CAREER OBJECTIVES:

Academic: I have 14 years of experience in teaching at Higher Education/University level and 3 years of teaching experience at secondary school level. . I am capable for planning, organizing, preparing and delivering instructional programs to students in order to facilitate learning and development. I have competency to provide high quality, comprehensive educational and training opportunities that are compatible to changing needs of the students. I have capability to identify, formulate and handle scientifically complex problems, as well as to critically evaluate information and to formulate possible solutions. I have warm and supportive nature and can work harmoniously with others. I have been actively involved with following activities, which i plan to carry forward with zeal and zest.

- Counseling and motivation of students for avenues and excellence in higher education, across the country.
- Cultivation of scientific temperament amongst students, through extracurricular presentations, videos and short projects/assignments, exposing them to ethics and recent novelties of the subject.

Research: I am experienced researcher, always looking for innovative methods in research. I am well versed with the techniques of research and teaching particularly in the areas of psychological foundations of education and special education. Having an overall training in the various hard-core areas of special education and psychology including identification and diagnoses of various defects and psychological disorders of special children, their treatment and remedial measures. Provided an opportunity, I can plan to engage myself with possible minor projects more of the academic interest, by collaborating and applying for funds from the academic and professional institutes across the globe (UGC-India, ICSSR, Erick Division of NCERT, UNESCO & UNICEF). With the objective of research I wish, I could join your institute and would do best to satisfy your demands and requirements. My research interests include:

- Study psychological profile of differently abled children.
- Psycho-Social impact on achievement and adjustment of special children.
 - Study Socio-economic and political discrimination are predictors of psychological problems among weaker section of the society.
 - Study current problems and issues such as banking concept of education, political and social interference with reference to the country of India.
